Description

Set amidst the villages, vineyards, and orchards of Provence's renowned Luberon Valley is the lovely Villa Jasmin de Roussillon. As beautiful as it is functional, this newly restored and renovated, 250 years old house is furnished with antiques, original art and comfortable, excellent quality furniture and beds.

The owners are hospitable and helpful. They provide a lovely welcome basket, a guide to local markets, a guide to the region, and touring hints. They can also help you arrange for your first night's dinner to be delivered, or for a chef to come and cook for you.

Set in the village of Roussillon, in the Vaucluse the very heart of the Luberon Valley, the villa is within easy driving distance of the valley's most famous hilltop villages, markets and vineyards.

The villa has four en-suite bedrooms; in addition, the study, with a sofa bed and bath, can be turned into an en-suite bedroom for one. The villa looks out on an ancient vineyard of almost 5 acres, with expansive views of the Luberon and Ventoux mountains and the charming hilltop village of Roussillon.

Location

Roussillon is a commune in the Vaucluse department in the Provence-Alpes-Côte d'Azur region in southeastern France. Situated in the heart of the biggest ochre deposit in Europe, Roussillon blazons forth its difference through an astonishing palette of flaming colours.

The village stands on an ochre ridge, situated in a broad valley with the 'Monts du Vaucluse' to the north and the 'Petit' Luberon to the south. As you wander its narrow streets and stairways and gaze upon its facades, which are often quite plain and naturally beautiful, you will be admiring the result of age-old know-how.
